

TRAVEL PARTY: Invite several high-ranking local, district, state or national Elks and spouses who live in the area to accompany your guests and fill out the traveling party, to provide conversation and colorful local background, and to prevent “road-tedium” from setting in between stops. Either of necessity or according to plan, some of the accompanying party can even be replaced or “rotated” at strategic points to revitalize the conversational menu. Elks being who we are, this also provides the opportunity for either the guest Elk or the escorting Elks to discuss at leisure and in relative privacy any local matters which could profit from their combined viewpoints.
